KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE.

MORE ABOUT THE "EMINENT PROGRESS" OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND HOW THEY DID IT.

ANDERSON, C. H., Nov. 16th, 1868.

I observe that the citizens of Anderson claim that everything is quiet in their county, and I see that B. F. Perry is out in another piece. I desire you to reply to them and give you the following facts to prove their statements false: During the campaign, Daniel Jones, a colored man, was called to his cabin door and shot by three men. He was severely wounded in the arm and side. Dump Sherrard was taken out and severely whipped until he agreed to be a good Democrat. This was in "Dark Corner." Near one hundred colored men registered at this box; we did not receive a vote there. Many colored men were forced to vote the Democratic ticket. I heard there was heavy firing in some parts of the neighborhood on the Sunday night before the election; it was done for the purpose of intimidating colored men. About six or eight miles above Anderson, the house in which lives a colored man named Freeman, was broken into by K. K. K. well armed. As he ran out the door they knocked him down with a gun, firing several shots at the same time. They then took his wife and her niece, carried them from their house, tore all their clothing off, whipped them and then let them go, firing as they ran. This was on a Sunday night. The same night they whipped a white woman named Fields most brutally. She has left the county with her step father. The men who did it say they are very sorry and that they were drunk. At Williamston a white man named Talley was severely whipped because they thought him a Radical, but he turned out to be a good Democrat. The Democrats hung a colored man at this same place in 1860 or '61, because he dreamed he was free, and for telling the other negroes his dream. On Sunday night before the election, the K. K. rode through Williamston, covered with white sheets; their horses were also covered. They went to several colored men's houses, tried to get them out, claiming to be Yankees, and fired a few shots. Only thirteen votes were polled for us at this box.

On Sunday night, October 25th, the K. K. K. went to the houses of several colored men, among others of Steward Moore, James Thompson, Paul Moore. They broke down doors, beat women, stamped children in the face, threw one in the fire, broke several spinning wheels, broke down beds, cut up dresses, broke chairs, took cotton bunks which were spun by the women and scattered them over the yard, dragged a colored woman (who had lately been confined) out of the bed by the feet. The K. K. K.'s swore they were sent from hell to kill every nigger that voted the Radical ticket. At several places they would swear men and women to support the Democratic party. At some houses they did not hurt any one but broke up their furniture, and swore them to be Democrats. Mr. Pickrell, one of the Commissioners of Election, was dogged by "parties unknown" on the road from Anderson to Williamston, and was forced to lie out all night. A colored man who carried the tickets from Anderson to Greenwood box, was fired at five times by "parties unknown." Nine votes only at that box for our party. We received only two votes at Craytonville and nine at Storeville. At some boxes we did not receive a vote, where from one hundred to fifty colored men were registered. The last time the League met, before the election at Pendleton, colored men were fired on as they returned home. Heavy firing was heard in all portions of the country the night before the election. It was done for the purpose of intimidating colored voters, and did intimidate them, for they had few weapons.

The Republican party must show the Democrats that violence do no good in any election. I assure you that the Democrats will have full control of the next Legislature unless the State canvassers and Congress throw out the vote of Anderson and other counties. If the Republican party allows its votes to be reckoned, farwell free speech, free press and Republican party in South Carolina. Now is the time to prove that our party has the courage to protect itself and the ballot box from violence and fraud. Nothing has so injured our party in the up country as the killing of Mr. Randolph. The majority of the citizens of Anderson County strongly condemn the outrages committed on defenceless colored citizens and long to have the country restored to law and order. The only difficulty is they do nothing to bringing the guilty man to justice. Neighbors and friends do not desire to bring their sons up before the law and thereby destroy their friendship for one another. Young men do acts that their fathers deprecate as much as any one, but cannot govern the "hot heads." Young men of respectable families so called, encouraged by a few bad men commit these crimes.

There was little excitement during the election. The acts of violence were committed before the election for the purpose of intimidating voters. Not many Democrats remained home. Hundred of Republicans stayed at home. Not many white men voted for Grant. At least one hundred colored men voted the Democratic ticket.

The Democrats have cooled down since the election. The Republicans are not in good spirits; they expect nothing from a party which they consider too weak or cowardly to protect them.

The Democrats are jubilant over the election of Mr. Reed. They serenaded him the other night. One of the transparencies represented a hog painted on a carpet bag with this inscription, "Ohio, keep your hog at home." They carried a United States flag, but they carried it Union down. That expresses their meaning too.

Rev. Dr. Scott said in his pulpit recently that he would advise every young man at the outset of his career: First, to be a good Christian; second, to insure his life; and third, to get a good wife. Then he will be happy.

A LITERAL TURN OF MIND.—We hear of a very polite and impressive gentleman, who said to a youth in the street, "Boy, may I inquire where Robinson's store is?" "Certainly, sir," said the boy very respectfully. "Well, sir," said the gentleman, after waiting awhile, "where is it?" "I have not the least idea, your honor," said the youth.

There was another boy, who was accosted by an ascetic middle-aged lady, with, "Boy, I want to go to Dover street." "Well, ma'am, why don't you go there, then?" replied the boy.

One day on Lake George, a party of gentlemen strolling among the beautiful islands of the lake with rather bad luck, espied a little fellow with a red shirt and an old straw hat, dargling a line over the side of a boat. "Hello! boy," said one of them, "what are you doing?" "Fishing," came the answer. "Well, of course," said the gentleman, "but what do you catch?" Here the boy became indignant at so much questioning, and replied, "Fish, you fool, what do you expect?" "Did any of you ever see an elephant's skin?" inquired a teacher of an infant class. "I have," shouted a six-year old from the foot of the class. "Where?" asked the teacher. "On the elephant's back," said the boy, laughing.

Sometimes this sort of wit degenerates or rises, as the case may be, into punning, as when Flora pointed pensively to the heavy masses of clouds in the sky, saying, "I wonder where those clouds are going?" and her brother replied, "I think they are going to thunder." Also, as in the following dialogue, "Hello, there! how do you sell wood?" "By the cord," "How long has it been cut?" "Four feet," "I mean how long has it been since you cut it?" "No longer than it is now." As also as when Patrick O'Flynn was seen with his collar and bosom sadly begrimed, and was indignantly asked by his officer, "Patrick O'Flynn, how long do you wear a shirt?" and he replied very promptly, "Twenty-eight inches, sir."

HORATIO SEYMOUR.—The eminent statesman who never sought position for selfish ends, says the Syracuse Courier, and only became a candidate in obedience to the unanimous and unsolicited demand of the representatives of a vast body of patriotic men, can feel no regrets for the unsuccessful issue of the late campaign, save such as are common to all who hoped in his election to see the success of a just cause and the beginning in the long desired progress toward a real peace.

"Exiled Marcellus more ennobled thee," Than Caesar with the Senate at his heels."

The ex-Governor, we learn, bears the result with entire equanimity, and has settled down in his elegant rural home with the same hearty love of rural sights and scenes and pleasures which led him originally so persistently to decline the nomination. Although he never shirked a responsibility which the people desired him to assume, he is perfectly content when the popular will places the burdens of responsibility upon others. He is of the mould of that noble old Roman, who, having been one of the candidates for high official trust and rejected by the people, rejoicing that Rome had nobler and more worthy sons than he to wear her honors and guide her destinies. Although this is not true in the case of this favorite son of New York, than whom the Union has no really greater, purer or more noble name, yet such is doubtless the magnanimous spirit which gives to the illustrious statesman of New York, in his calm and philosophic retreat, a calm contentment which Grant himself may not know amid the labors and vexation of his high office. Whether the peers of such men be few or many in any age, not one of them can well be spared from high station; and we look yet to see Horatio Seymour called by the sober second thought of the people to the most exalted responsibilities.

A clerical correspondent writing from Philadelphia relates that not long since, at the breaking ground for a railroad in a certain town in the Southwest, a clergyman, on being called upon to open the proceedings with prayer, took from his pocket a manuscript supplication, prepared for the occasion, which he read. A colored brother present, leaning upon his shovel, noticing the movement, remarked with a grin, "Golly, dat's de first time dis darkey ever knew the Lord written to on the subject of a railroad."

The ruin of most men dates from some vacant hour. Occupation is the armor of the soul. There is a satirical poem, in which the devil is represented as fishing for men, and fitting his baits to the taste and business of his prey; but the idler, he said, gave him no trouble, as he bit the naked hook.

"William, thee knows I never call anybody names; but, William, if the Mayor of the city were to come to me and say, 'Joshua, I want thee to find me the biggest liar in all Philadelphia,' I would come to thee and put my hand on thy shoulder, and say to thee, 'William, the mayor wants to see thee.'"

It is related of a certain minister of Maine, who was noted for his long sermons, with many divisions, that one day when he was advancing among the teens, he reached, at length, a kind of resting place in his discourse, when, pausing to take breath, he asked the question: "And what shall I say more?" A voice from the congregation responded, "Say Amen!"

Josh Billings has been experimenting with pills, and certifies as follows: "I never have used enny or Doctor Emanuel's Liver Cons. Eng and Kidney Encouraging Pills, and therefore kant tell yu how influential they am, but of you are looking after a pill as mild as a pet lamb and as searching as a fine tooth comb, buy Dr. Ringbone's Silent Perambulators, 27 in a box, sold by all the respectable druggists."

Glory is well enough for a rich man, but is of very little consequence to a poor man with a large family.

Modesty in woman is like color on her cheek—decidedly becoming if not put on.

It often happens, when the husband fails to be at home to dinner, that it is one of his best days.

A Yankee doctor has recently got up a remedy for hard times. It consists of ten hours hard labor well worked in.

There are two thousand nine hundred and ninety-seven officers in the military service of the United States.

SOUTHERN

SORGHO SUGAR COMPANY.

THE undersigned, as General Agents for the above Association, propose to organize in Anderson and other Districts, companies for the purpose of Manufacturing Sugar, and Refining Syrup from the juice of the Sorghum Cane.

Several of these companies are now in successful and profitable operation in the United States, and the Sugar and Syrup produced by them have been examined by competent judges and pronounced unequalled. We propose

1st. To manufacture a bright golden syrup, equal in flavor to any syrup.

2nd. To manufacture from five to seven pounds of Sugar per gallon of syrup, not inferior to any brown sugar, and far superior to many varieties, the residuum of syrup still.

Rob't. Mure & Co., Agents,

CHARLESTON, S. C.

THESE TIES AND BANDS are made of the best wrought iron, and have been fairly tested and approved by the cotton pressers in all the principal sea ports, and by planters in all the cotton growing States.

The advantage of baling cotton with iron is now generally acknowledged, and is recommended by boat and ship-owners and insurance companies.

It costs less, makes a more compact bale, and gives greater security than rope.
